Andrew J. MacLeod

Biographical Sketch, Southwest RAC Member

Drew MacLeod is logistics director for Alternative Youth Adventures in Montrose and responsible for coordinating special recreation and use permits required for his organization's backcountry treatment programs for adjudicated youth. MacLeod began serving his first term on the Southwest RAC in August 2004 representing Category 1, commercial recreation, and is also in his first term on the City of Delta's Parks and Recreation Advisory Board.

Between his work and play, much of MacLeod's time is spent on public lands. Hiking, mountain biking, photography and volunteer trail maintenance, as a member of COPMOBA, fill some of that time. Both travel and range management, along with extractive activities on public lands, are important issues to MacLeod as a RAC member.

MacLeod and his wife, Katrina, have lived in western Colorado since 2000 and enjoy working on their home in Delta.
